The use of herbal remedies and beauty aids is an ancient Indian tradition and is a part of Indian culture. A place of relaxation under the dense forest cover, an aroma of a variety of genuine spices coming from the trees grown around the farm, a lot of awareness, guidance on the type of spices and treatment for various diseases, lavish lunch in traditional Goan-style, and other modes of entertainment, all this and more add to a enjoyable day at the spice Farm. From there the journey is taken forward to old Goa churches and temple. Any visit to Goa is incomplete without a visit to Bom Basilica church.
